- The principles of the state

- The rights and freedoms of citizens
- The structure of government
- The judicial system
- The electoral system
- The armed forces
- The economy
- Foreign policy

The constitution is divided into two parts. The first part contains the fundamental principles of the state, while the second part contains the specific provisions governing the different branches of government.

The Constitution of Ukraine is based on the following principles:

- Sovereignty: Ukraine is a sovereign and independent state.
- Territorial integrity: Ukraine's territory is indivisible and inviolable.
- Democracy: Ukraine is a democratic state based on the rule of law.
- Human rights: The rights and freedoms of citizens are guaranteed by the constitution.
- Social justice: The state is committed to ensuring social justice and equality for all.

These principles are reflected in the specific provisions of the constitution, which guarantee the rights of citizens, establish the structure of government, and regulate the economy.

The Constitution of Ukraine contains a number of key provisions, including:

- The right to life: The constitution guarantees the right to life for all citizens.
- The right to freedom of speech: The constitution guarantees the right to freedom of speech and expression.
- The right to vote: The constitution guarantees the right to vote for all citizens over the age of 18.
- The structure of government: The constitution establishes a three-branch government system, consisting of the executive, legislative, and judicial branches.
- The economy: The constitution guarantees the right to private property and the freedom of economic activity.

These provisions are essential to the functioning of a democratic state and ensure the rights of citizens.

The Constitution of Ukraine has been amended several times since its adoption in 1996. The most recent amendments were made in 2024.

The 2024 amendments included the following changes:

- The establishment of a new Constitutional Court: The Constitutional Court is the highest court in Ukraine and has the authority to interpret the constitution.
- The reduction of the number of members of parliament: The number of members of parliament was reduced from 450 to 300.

- The establishment of a new electoral system: A new electoral system was introduced, which is based on a mixed proportional and majoritarian system.

These amendments were made in order to improve the functioning of the Ukrainian government and to ensure the rights of citizens.
