The curse had been placed on her by an evil witch who was jealous of Lila's beauty. The witch had promised to lift the curse if Lila could find a prince who would love her for who she truly was, not for her voice.

Lila traveled far and wide in search of a prince who would love her, but she was always disappointed. The princes were all interested in her beauty and her voice, but none of them could see past her curse.

One day, Lila met a kind and gentle prince named Edward. Edward was not interested in Lila's beauty or her voice. He was drawn to her kind heart and her gentle spirit.

Edward and Lila fell in love and were married. On their wedding day, the witch's curse was lifted and Lila was able to sing like a beautiful princess once again.

Lila and Edward lived happily ever after, proving that true love can overcome any obstacle.

The Frog Prince

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful princess who lived in a castle by the sea. She was kind and gentle, but she was also very lonely.

One day, the princess was walking in the forest when she came across a pond. She saw a frog sitting on a lily pad and she felt sorry for it.

"Why are you so sad, little frog?" she asked.

"I am sad because I am cursed," the frog said. "I was once a handsome prince, but an evil witch turned me into a frog. She said that I would only be able to break the curse if I found a princess who would kiss me."

The princess felt sorry for the frog, so she kissed it. As soon as her lips touched the frog's, he turned back into a handsome prince.

The prince was so grateful to the princess that he asked her to marry him. She agreed, and they were married in a beautiful ceremony.

The prince and princess lived happily ever after, and the evil witch was never able to harm them again.

The Sleeping Beauty

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful princess named Aurora. She was born to a king and queen who loved her very much.

On Aurora's sixteenth birthday, she was invited to a ball by a handsome prince. She was so excited to go to the ball that she forgot all about the curse that had been placed on her by an evil fairy.

The curse said that Aurora would prick her finger on a spinning wheel and die. The king and queen had tried to hide all the spinning wheels in the kingdom, but they had missed one.

At the ball, Aurora danced with the prince and they fell in love. But then she saw a spinning wheel and she couldn't resist touching it.

As soon as she touched the spinning wheel, she pricked her finger and fell asleep. The prince was heartbroken, but he knew that there was only one way to wake Aurora up.

The prince kissed Aurora and she awoke. They were married and lived happily ever after.

Cinderella

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful young girl named Cinderella. She lived with her stepmother and two stepsisters, who were cruel and unkind.

Cinderella was forced to do all the housework and she was never allowed to go to any of the balls. But one day, the prince invited all the young women in the kingdom to a ball.

Cinderella's stepmother and stepsisters were so excited to go to the ball that they forgot all about Cinderella.

But Cinderella had a fairy godmother who helped her get ready for the ball. The fairy godmother gave Cinderella a beautiful dress, glass slippers, and a pumpkin that turned into a carriage.

Cinderella went to the ball and she danced with the prince. They fell in love and Cinderella lost track of time.

As the clock struck midnight, Cinderella had to run away. She lost one of her glass slippers on the steps of the palace.

The prince found the glass slipper and he searched the kingdom for the woman who fit it. He finally found Cinderella and they were married.

Cinderella and the prince lived happily ever after, and Cinderella's stepmother and stepsisters were never able to harm her again.

The Little Mermaid

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful mermaid named Ariel. She was the youngest daughter of King Triton, the ruler of the sea.

Ariel was fascinated by the human world and she longed to explore it. One day, she swam to the surface and saw a handsome prince named Eric.

Ariel fell in love with Eric and she wanted to be with him. But she knew that humans and mermaids could not be together.

Ariel made a deal with the evil sea witch, Ursula. Ursula promised to turn Ariel into a human for three days, but if Ariel did not get Eric to kiss her by the end of the third day, she would belong to Ursula.

Ariel turned into a human and she went to the surface to find Eric. She found him and they fell in love. But Ursula was always watching and she was determined to keep Ariel from getting her kiss.

On the third day, Eric was about to kiss Ariel when Ursula turned her into a mermaid again. Eric was heartbroken and Ariel was taken back to the sea.

But Eric loved Ariel too much to give up. He went to Ursula's lair and defeated her. Then he kissed Ariel and she turned into a human forever.

Eric and Ariel were married and they lived happily ever after.

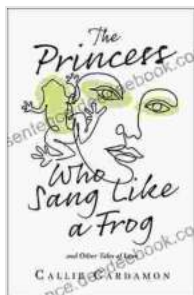

The Beauty and the Beast

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful young woman named Belle. She lived with her father in a small village.

One day, Belle's father was lost in the forest. He stumbled upon a castle and he was taken prisoner by a hideous beast.

Belle went to the castle to rescue her father. The Beast agreed to let her father go if Belle would stay in his place.

Belle agreed and she stayed at the castle with the Beast. At first, she was afraid of him, but then she began to see the good
